5

Abstract

Internet Telephony

A method of audio (as defined herein) transmission over a network where audio frames are sent in UDP packets, wherein the audio frames are overlapped by at least one for each UDP packet. A method of monitoring quality of service information, and a packet for this, are also disclosed.

Figure 1

10